

THE BEULAH CAMP YOUTH INSTITUTE of the Southern Illinois Methodist Conference opened at the Beulah Camp Grounds, Eldorado, Monday, and will continue all week. The Youth Institute, an annual meeting, attracts Christian young people and leaders from a wide area and more than 1,100 are registered for the 1957 Institute. The daily program starts at 7 a. m. and continues throughout the day with "lights out" scheduled for 11 p. m. There are periods for study and prayer and an evangelistic service each evening at 7. There also is time for play and recreation. One class, thought to be the only one of its kind, is "Christianity on the Highway" and is taught by State Police Sergeant Lindell Rockwell of Raleigh. Classes are held in the huge tabernacle and also in tents

(top photo) pitched on the spacious, tree-shaded grounds. Facilities include many permanent dorms, large dining room and shower rooms. But many of the visitors are housed in tents as the buildings will not accommodate the large number in attendance. Photo lower left shows a group enjoying the recreation hall facilities and lower right depicts the idea that everyone shares the work load. The "little guy" is wheeling a case of empty soda pop bottles from the refreshment stand, one of the most popular places on the grounds. R. A. Lippman is Senior Dean, Rev. Roy Cole is Dean of Boys and Dorothy Spangler, Dean of Girls. Rev. Ford Philpot will be the evangelistic speaker and Bill Weston director of music for the week's program. Reform Bill Is Signed

Sets Up Department of Audits To Check On All State Spending

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—A Hodge scandal reform bill designed to provide a closer check on all state spending went into the statute books as law today.

The measure, signed by Gov. William G. Stratton, will set up a post audit system to check all state expenditures. It creates a department of audits headed by an auditor general, appointed by the governor for a six-year term.

The auditor general will report both to the governor and to the Legislature. A legislative audit commission will head the legislative audit program to which the auditor general will report, along with his reports to the governor.

Stratton also has approved another measure providing $127,000 for the post audit program, although he vetoed a line item for $10,000 for a contingency fund for the commission.

Another new law will permit elementary and community unit school districts to increase their school taxes. The elementary districts may hike their rate from 50 to 65 cents; the unit districts from $1 to $1.25 and 25 cents for building purposes.

Approved earlier was a bill setting new minimums of $3,200 for teachers without a bachelor's degree, $3,400 for those with a bachelor's degree and at least 120 semester hours of training, and $3,600 for those with a master's degree and more than 150 semester hours of training.

Present minimums for teachers' salaries run from $1,800 to $2,600. Another measure approved effected a change in the controversial 1955 contour splash guard law, which will exempt farm trucks, dump trucks, and other trucks used primarily in off-the-highway work from the contour mud guard requirements.

Other new laws will:

Continue a study commission on the aged and aging, and set up a gerontological committee at the University of Illinois to work on the problems of elderly people.

Provide increases in the salaries of county and probate judges.

Increase the fee for an automobile title from 50 cents to $1.

Broaden the jurisdiction of the court of claims from $7,500 to $25,000.

Permit 1,000 pounds' tolerance in the truck weight law, and eliminate the 350-pound per axle tolerance provisions.

Set up new procedures for the use of blood tests in paternity cases.

Permit civil service employees to engage in political activities in off-duty hours.

Create a commission to study shipment of livestock in Illinois and to and from surrounding states.

Three Vacancies On Galatia High School Faculty

There are still three vacancies on the faculty of the Galatia Community high school, Jack Large, principal, has announced.

"We still need a mathematics teacher, music teacher and coach. Candidates are asked to contact me, either by letter or telephone," Principal Large declared.

Several students who won awards during the past school term have not called at the school to get their letters and are requested to do so as soon as possible.

Principal Large also reminded all students entering GCHS as freshmen must have physical and dental examinations and forms to be completed at the time of the examinations may be obtained at the office.

Title of Principal Emeritus Bestowed On Cyrus Steinsultz

The title of "Principal Emeritus" of Horace Mann school has been bestowed on Cyrus Steinsultz by the Harrisburg City School Board of Education.

A resolution has been written into the minutes of the board calling attention to the "great service rendered to the community and its children" by Mr. Steinsultz during 45 years as a teacher, 35 years of which he was principal of the Horace Mann school.

"Principal Emeritus is a proper designation of merit for the remainder of his life-time," the resolution states.

Another resolution calling attention to the long and faithful service of Mrs. Lois Locke was also written into the minutes.

The two veteran Harrisburg teachers announced their retirement at the end of the school year just closed.

Coroner's Jury Finds Jones Died by Hanging

An inquest into the death of Howell Jones was held by Coroner James Thornton Monday evening and the jury returned a verdict that "He came to his death by hanging himself at his home in Carrier Mills about 2 p. m. July 7."

Two witnesses testified at the inquest.

Steve Kerley, son-in-law of Mr. Jones, told that he went to the home to visit and when he entered the back door found the body hanging from a rafter on the back porch. He stated he grabbed the body and while holding it up, called for help.

A neighbor, Bill Moody, answered the call for assistance and testified he cut the rope and helped to lower the body to the porch floor.

Dr. B. E. Montgomery was called and told Coroner Thornton Mr. Jones' neck was broken and he apparently died instantly.

The inquest was held at 7 p. m. Monday at the Thornton funeral home in Carrier Mills.

The funeral will be held in the Vienna Baptist church at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Rev. R. F. Richardson and Rev. John L. Adams will officiate and burial will be in the Masonic and I. O. O. F. cemetery at Benton.

The body is in the care of the Murrie funeral home of Vienna, and was taken to the farm home today to lie in state until the funeral.

Irvin Receives Reprieve 5 Hours Before Execution

Raise Income Levels for Housing Projects

Maximum Limits Increased by $300 Per Year

Approval has been given to the Housing Authority of Saline county by the Public Housing Administration to raise the level of annual incomes at which low-income families may be accepted to live in the public housing projects located in Harrisburg, Galatia, Carrier Mills and Eldorado, according to Chairman Walter Russell of the local Housing Authority.

The increases were sought by the local Authority, Chairman Russell says, to bring public housing income levels into balance with general economic conditions.

The maximum income limits for admission to the local housing projects operated by the Housing Authority of the County of Saline have been increased by $300 per year according to Chairman Russell. The maximum income at which families may continue to live in the projects has been increased by approximately $300 per year per family, also.

Families may move into the low-rent public housing projects at incomes that do not exceed limits approved for admission by PHA. They may remain until their incomes increase to the maximum established for continued occupancy. They become ineligible for continued occupancy on the project when a family's income exceeds the amount established for continued occupancy.

The new levels of income for admission to housing of the Saline County Housing Authority are $3,000 for one or two persons; $3,200 for three or four persons; and $3,500 for five or more persons. These income limits are increased by $100 for each minor in the family.

The new levels of maximum annual income for continued occupancy are $3,750 for families of one or two persons; $4,000 for families of three or four persons; and $4,375 for families of five or more persons. Admission for single persons is restricted by law to individuals who are aged 65 years or over.

Chairman Russell says that the local Authority sought approval to raise income limits when it found that a general rise in wages and housing costs had put many families at income levels that excluded them from public housing, but still are too low for the families to afford to rent or purchase decent private housing. Thus, it occurs, he says, that many low-income families must continue to live in slum or other substandard housing or return to it when their incomes rise above the maximum for continued occupancy in public housing.

Last-Minute Stay Granted By Federal Judge Lindley In Front Porch Ruling

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (UP)—A federal judge in a ruling delivered from the front porch of his home Monday night granted a reprieve to Leslie Irvin only five hours before the Chinese execution-style slayer of six persons was to die in the electric chair.

Irvin was convicted at Princeton, Ind., 19 months ago for the killing of W. Wesley Kerr, an Evansville filling station attendant. He also was accused of killing two women in southern Indiana and three members of a Henderson, Ky., family.

All of the victims were forced to kneel with their hands behind their backs and then they were shot in the back of the head in the style of Chinese executions.

Irvin's head, ankles and wrists had already been shaved for the electrodes which were scheduled to jolt the life from his body at 1:01 a. m. c. d. t., today, when news of the stay of execution arrived at Indiana State Penitentiary here.

Earlier, Irvin's chances to escape the electric chair appeared dim when a federal judge in South Bend, Ind., refused to grant a stay.

But attorneys for Irvin, known as the "Mad Dog" Killer, raced against time to file an appeal with the appeals court in Chicago and then to Danville, Ill., for a personal appeal to Judge Walter Lindley of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

In Effect Pending Hearing
Lindley held an extraordinary session at his home and granted the 33-year-old former pipefitter a stay of execution about 8 p. m. c. d. t.

Lindley said the stay would continue in effect pending a hearing on Irvin's appeal to the U. S. Court of Appeals in Chicago, probably in September.

Irvin remained calmly confident that his life would be spared throughout the ordeal. He ordered a "last meal" of sirloin steak and then asked for "six good cigars" to while away the anxious hours in his cell, located only 18 feet from the execution chamber.

Warden Albert Dowd said Irvin was "extremely relieved at the news" when he informed him of the postponement.

"It certainly was something to go through and I'm very happy," the prisoner told the warden.

Irvin's attorneys, James D. Nafe and Theodore Lockyear, pleaded for 1 1/2 hours before Lindley on the front porch of the judge's home. Deputy Atty. Gen. Robert O'Mahoney of Indiana argued there should be no further delay.

The defense attorneys contended the trial court erred when it seated eight jurors who testified they already had formed an opinion on Irvin's guilt.

The attorneys charged the trial court also erred in admitting Irvin's confession as evidence. They said the confession was obtained through coercion.

Court Not in Session

Dowd said the soft-spoken Irvin "exuded confidence" as time for his execution neared. He made no requests for last 3 hour visitors.

About a dozen persons had been scheduled to witness the electrocution, including Dowd, two priests, two physicians, and several guards and electricians.

In a morning hearing at South Bend, Federal Judge W. Lynn Parkinson rejected a petition for a stay of execution on grounds the appeal motion was "wholly without merit, frivolous and for delay and not taken in good faith."

Irvin's attorneys then went to Chicago in the hopes of winning a stay from the Appeals Court, only to find the court was not in session and the seven judges were scattered.

The only recourse was to find one of the judges to hear the motion, and Lindley was the most readily available.

Honor Grace Kelly

NEW YORK, July 9 (E.N.)—According to a report heard over WQXR, the radio station of the New York Times, the Consul General of Monaco reports "the Grace Kelly wedding stamps are completely sold out."—However, these stamps may be obtained from the Elmont Stamp Co.

Because the Wedding set has evoked a lively interest in stamps of Monaco, Elmont's Paris Office has prepared a collection containing the complete GRACE KELLY postage set of five stamps, the large-sized diamond Olympic set of six . . . and the recent Monacan set of four honoring Presidents Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt, and Eisenhower; a total of 15 mint stamps for just $1.00 to introduce Elmont's approval service.

An angry man is Sylvester T. Bly.
Who today was sold a piece of "blue sky."
He'd stepped in a showroom—out of the rain,
Was sold a new car before he could explain!
How he hated the styling—so high and square
And in new features it was really bare.
"I got a real bargain—the buy of my life—
But how do I ever convince my own wife?"

Moral: You're paying for a new car... make sure you get one!

When you buy a new car, put your money on tomorrow—not yesterday. Swept-Wing Dodge actually obsoletes other cars in its field. Should you invest in high, boxy styling when Dodge offers the low, low look of tomorrow? Should you invest in outmoded coil springs when Dodge offers new Torsion-Aire Ride? Should you invest in an old-fashioned lever-type transmission when Dodge offers the ease of Push-Button Driving? In other things, too—engines, brakes, interiors—Dodge is years ahead. So put your money on tomorrow. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge!

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)
BLUSTERING, egotistical, bossy people are frequently trying to cover up some basic weakness in their character. Some of them have great fears. Others have feelings of inadequacy. They need help but they are prone to spurn assistance when it is offered.
Many of these folk resist even the friendship of God. Somehow they feel that they must go through life on their own power. They overlook the fact that they sap the strength of those whom they boss or "ride over."

All of us should recognize our weaknesses. We should not spurn aid when it is offered. Above all we need the help and guidance of God. Those who live near God and who follow His way are seldom objectionable to others. They have found peace and they share their calm with others.

Timely Hints for July

A message from Robert S. Keltner, "Your Pharmacist"

YOU HAVE TO LIVE IN YOUR BODY the rest of your life. You can't turn it for a new model every year or two as you would an automobile.

IF YOU NEGLECT your body, just like any good machine, it may develop trouble. Nature warns you before it becomes serious. You suffer occasional pains, sleepless nights, wake up tired, and more often acquire colds.

HOW MUCH IS A HEALTHY BODY WORTH to you? Of course, it is priceless. Therefore, it will pay you to make a small investment to insure your continuous good health.

FOLLOW THIS PROVED PLAN. Visit your physician twice a year for a body check-up. He knows what trouble spots to look for. Perhaps you need one of the new medicines that will help you ease excessive nervous tension. If he thinks your resistance to infection needs strengthening, he may prescribe a high potency vitamin. Your present diet might not be the best for your particular body. He has the knowledge to properly guide you.

IT IS YOUR BODY and you might as well enjoy it. In our pharmacy are the medicines, vitamins and health-aids that your body may need to serve you best.

Gov't Reports Inflationary Buying Boom Slowing Down

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Commerce Department reported today new signs that the inflationary buying boom is slowing down.

The value of goods on the shelves of U. S. manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers increased by 400 million dollars, under the department's seasonally adjusted accounting system, to a total of $90,100,000,000. This was a larger gain in inventories than in earlier months of the year.

Manufacturers' inventories in May rose about four billion dollars above the figure of one year ago. Retailers' stocks also were up, but wholesalers' inventories were down.

Automobiles accounted for about one-third of the increase in unsold goods.

Meanwhile, manufacturers sales in May remained about the same as in April. They totaled more than 29 billion dollars, or about 5 per cent higher than a year ago, the Commerce Department said.

Officials saw the stabilization of sales and the increase in inventories as an anti-inflationary trend. New orders received by manufacturers in May totaled 28 billion dollars, about the same as May 1956, but the net backlog of unfilled orders declined by about one billion dollars from the April total.

Manufacturers' backlogs totaled $58,800,000,000, which is still $300,000,000 higher than a year ago.

APART from the casual get-togethers at the end of each day, staff meetings were regularly scheduled in the doctors' room of the hospital.

On the last meeting in June someone mentioned that Shelton had been with them now for six weeks and perhaps was in a position to state an opinion of their setup.

"Well," he said finally, "as you know, I trained in a center about as big and as complex as medical centers can be. I came here with great misgivings as to my ability to cope with conditions which, I felt, had to exist in a place such as this appeared to be on paper.

"I needn't tell you how wrong I was. Here everything is of the best. That's true in the surgery, the delivery room, the nursery. It's true of the X-ray room, the lab and the kitchen. The personnel is hand-picked for training and performance.

"And I am ready to say that this kind of practice is probably the sort that every doctor dreams of as being ideal." He paused again and saw that Cornel was about to speak.

"Except . . ." said Dr. Shelton. And laughed to see the way the smiles faded and jaws dropped. "Except you aren't a clinic at all. And I would like to see that changed. That is, of course, that we well might conduct a free children's and prenatal clinic here.

"Now, in the cities, such services are given—and taken—as a matter of course. I've heard Dr. Flynn say that the children of the poor get better medical care than do the children of the rich, because from before birth the mothers attend the clinics. I'd like at least to try offering such a service here—maybe it wouldn't be used. You probably know more than I do about the behavior and reaction of these people. But still, having your permission, I would like to try such a clinic service for the children. It all ties up to my reasons for going into medicine. I feel that it is a calling for a man who likes people and wants to be as helpful and useful to them as possible."

HE had not spoken emotionally. This was the thing in which he believed, and he was prepared to argue for his cause. He was arguing for it—and when he finished the doctors who listened knew that he had argued. They glanced at each other and laughed a little. At themselves, not at Dr. Shelton.

"Go along with your clinic!" snorted Cornel. "Of course! We all of us could do a little more giving than we do. And certainly you can set this thing up if you want to. I'll tell the newspaper to come to you for a story on it."

"Well, of course," snapped Rubie. "Your idea is a really good one, Shelton. If you can manage to staff your clinic service . . ."

"I think I can. I'll need one R.N., and I think I can manage that. Then with a little outside volunteer help to keep records, hold down the kids, talk to the mothers, send out cards—There'd be some social service desirable, home visits and so on . . ."

On Saturday he dropped in to see Nan, who was mimeographing bulletins in the church basement. They took the bulletins up to the church vestibule and then started home, walking at a leisurely pace. It was then that he spoke to her about his well-baby clinic, speaking again with enthusiasm. She listened intently, her eyes on his face. "And I thought," he concluded, "that perhaps I could get you to come in and attend to the clerical work."

"Oh!" He glanced at her, and her face was pink. But as he watched, it went white and a stubborn look of refusal came into her eyes, settled about her lips.

"You wouldn't want to?" he asked incredulously.

"No," she said flatly. "I couldn't. I—I wouldn't want to."

He waited for her to say more; she did not.

"It wouldn't have to be Saturday morning . . ."

She whirled on him. "Let's drop it, shall we? I—just believe me—I don't want to help you."

He couldn't believe his ears.

HIS mother was to be gone for the week end, and by four that afternoon the big house seemed quiet and empty. Nan had said something about bright work, and Garde could get in a swim. He put on his trunk and sneakers, pulled on a sport shirt and cut down across the lawn, which he'd been mowing to the club beach.

He heard his name called and turned. It was Valley in cone-shaped hat, dark glasses and a huge terry robe—but he still could identify Valley, and he quickly made his way to her between the beach chairs, the children, the abandoned sun lotion bottles and other stuff littering the sand.

"Did you bring any pliers down with you?" she asked when he was close.

He laughed. "What was that?" She held up her right hand. "I just found myself a vicious piece of driftwood," she told him. Garde knelt beside her and examined the torn hand.

"The ungrateful thing," Valley chattered, "snagged my best typing finger."

Cousins Meet In Unusual Incident

There is a favorite anecdote in the O. E. Wiley family, which goes something like this.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wiley, 401 Mary street, Evansville, Ind., formerly of Harrisburg, were visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shaw, originally of Pinckneyville, but at the time of this story, residents of Milan, Mich. Mr. Shaw was repeating an incident in which a superintendent at the Federal penitentiary, where Mr. Shaw was employed had returned to his native Germany and traced his family tree back 400 years. The officials had apologized to the superintendent in question because they could not produce more complete records. It seems that a fire had destroyed many of the files.

Mr. Wiley remembered that a similar incident had happened to his cousin, John Wiley, during World War II. John Wiley had left his Carrier Mills home some years before to live in Seattle, Wash. During the war, he needed his birth certificate in order to work for a maritime company. He wrote to the county court house in Harrisburg, but no certificate was on record there.

O. E. Wiley produced a doctor's ledger which had been kept as a family heirloom, and with this proof, obtained the certificate for his cousin, John Wiley.

Shaw then remembered that the man at the prison who had told him the same story was named Wiley.

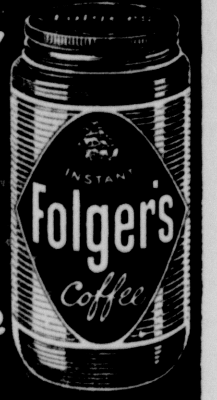

It all ended happily when Gordon Wiley accompanied his friend to the prison the next day to meet John Wiley Jr., a relative whom he had never expected to meet.

John Wiley Jr. was just as surprised to see his cousin from Evansville. He was on the "inside" at the prison, holding the very reputable position of member of the prison parole board.

U.P. was the first to send news to liberated newspapers in France, Italy and the Philippines after World War II.

Manager Hutchinson Thinks Cardinals Will Be Better Second Half of Season

ST. LOUIS — Manager Fred Hutchinson, whose St. Louis Cardinals have been one of the biggest surprises of 1957, thinks his club "will be even better in the second half."

Hutchinson, the 37-year-old former star Detroit pitcher, had just seen his rejuvenated Cardinals sweep a four-game set with the Cincinnati Redlegs and move 2 1/2 games in front of the National League race at the halfway mark.

"I sincerely believe we'll be better in the second half," Hutchinson said. "The players have the confidence and know what each other can and will do."

If the Cardinals do win their first pennant since 1946, it will be a bottom-to-top Cinderella story for Hutchinson, also known as the "Big Bear" for the way he paces the dugout.

It was five years ago Saturday that Hutchinson, his right arm sore, inherited the eighth-place Detroit

Frick Re-Named Major League Commissioner

ST. LOUIS — Ford Frick will continue as baseball commissioner for another seven years, but his election contained some what of a slap even though he remains in the job.

The 16 major league owners who voted unanimously to retain the former sports writer until Sept. 21, 1965, failed to give him a raise. He will get the same $65,000 per year for the new term that he has received on his current seven-year contract, which expires Sept. 21, 1958.

Frick had virtually no comment when notified of his re-election. Instead, he said that "about all I have to say is 'thank you.'"

Frick was notified of his appointment by Tom Yawkey, owner of the Boston Red Sox, and Phil Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs. Then the owners deferred action on whether to let the league presidents work out details of Frick's new contract, or turn it over to a special committee.

Election of the commissioner to a new term was the only activity of the joint session of the two leagues. The American League held lengthy discussions earlier on two points—National League franchise shifts and catastrophe insurance—but took no vote.

The National League rejected a bid by George V. McLaughlin of New York for a franchise in the Borough of Queens, voted in favor of extending the major league—National Association of Baseball agreement for five years, and heard a report by league attorney Lewis Carroll on recent hearings in Washington on legislation for or against baseball.

Downstate Fisherman's Guide

Small Bass Hitting Well at Lake Glendale

By Pete Brown

(From reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation.)

The largemouth bass in Lake Glendale are running small, but they are hitting more readily than any place in Southern Illinois judging from creel examinations.

The water at Glendale is extremely clear, and many of the bass are being taken on the Black Eel. The average catch is one and one-half pounds. Good-sized bluegill are being taken in deep water, either on poppers or bait.

Lake Murphysboro's channel catfish population has been giving anglers plenty of thrills, and bass fishing remains encouragingly good. Two distaff anglers — Mrs. Bud Worthen and Marie Ellis — hooked two-and-one-half and three pound channel cats while worm-fishing for bluegill. Plug-casters bringing home bass topped three pounds included Bud Rose and Otto Wohlwend, Murphysboro; Bill Craig of Chester, and Phil Frick, of Columbia, Mo. Rose also boated an eight pound channel cat, while Odell Cox took a seven and three-quarter pounder and two at four pounds. Bluegill are still hitting, but not as furiously as in previous weeks.

Crappie returns have been good at Horseshoe Lake, with some of the individual catches going as high as two and one-quarter pounds. Bluegill fishing has been slow. Trotline fishing for bullheads has been good at Lake Moses, where slugs are most successful bait. Bass activity has fallen off a bit, but the crappie run is holding steady. E. V. Simmons, of Benton, caught 66 plump ones in a day.

Fishing at Pinckneyville and McLeansboro city lakes has been spotty, but bass are beginning to move at both locations. Pinckneyville yielded a six-pounder to an unidentified woman from East St. Louis as well as limit catches to a pair of local men. Fly-rod poppers and plugs have both proven effective.

Bass up to three pounds are hitting surface lures at Harrisburg city lake, where the evening hours have been most active. Worm-fishing for bullheads continues to be good, and channel cats are responding well for minnow fishermen. Surface poppers the best of a pretty fair crappie run during the week Sargent hooked his on a Bomber.

Jim Norton, Alto Pass; J. A. Maskop, Percy; Leo Mendenall, Salem; G. G. Goodman and George Patterson, of Carbondale; Charles Koenig, of Belleville, and Art Rainey, of Mt. Vernon, are the latest additions to the Little Grassy honor roll with bass above four pounds. An unidentified woman landed a six-pounder, and another angler brought in three ranging from four to six pounds.

Crab Orchard has continued to be muddy but appeared to be clearing over the week-end.

Detach White Students from Colp School

COLP, Ill. (UP)—A legal battle loomed today over a decision Monday night to allow the detachment of a part of the Negro and White grade school district here.

The Williamson County board voted to allow a petition signed by a majority of white residents to detach from the Colp district and be annexed by the neighboring all-white Cartersville district. The board's decision came after 11 witnesses for and against the detachment testified during the three-hour hearing.

W. Troy Barrett, Carbondale, a white attorney for the Colp district, said the Negro-controlled Colp grade school board would appeal a decision to detach to the Circuit court.

Barrett said the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was interested in the case and was prepared to "go all the way."

Last May 17 the Colp grade school board voted to consolidate Negro and white schools. The four Negro board members voted for the consolidation and the three white members against.

Negro members testified that the consolidation was advised by the office of the state superintendent of public instruction for economy reasons.

The white members said they favored detachment because of greater educational advantages for their children at Cartersville.

Vote Action in Looting of Stores In Fire at Marion

MARION, Ill. (UP)—Evidence collected in the looting of two stores after a $225,000 fire in the Marion business district on June 17 was turned over to Williamson County State's Atty. Carl Sneed today.

The Marion City Council voted the action Monday night after an investigation by Police Chief Charles Edwards and Fire Chief Herman May who were on vacation when the fire occurred.

Edwards said he was "not at liberty to reveal names" at a public meeting and added that the information should more properly be placed in the hands of the state's attorney.

It was learned that the two officers interviewed five persons who named eight or nine persons they said they saw carrying merchandise from the two stores.

Stratton Vetoes Bill Giving Tax Relief to Bus Firms

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Gov. William G. Stratton today vetoed a bill designed to provide tax relief for Illinois bus firms, which claim they are hard hit by falling passenger loads and rising costs.

The bill would have exempted from the state gas tax gasoline sold to bus firms operating within a city or within cities adjacent to one another. Stratton's veto message was not immediately available.

Also killed was a $500,000 appropriation for improvements at Grand Marais State Park, near East St. Louis. The appropriation was not included in the governor's 1957-59 budget.

Other bills killed by the state's chief executive after winning approval of the Legislature would have created commissions to study juvenile delinquency, the state highway program and highway needs; provided special license plates for Illinois congressmen; and revamped the state's garnishment laws.

Ike Vacation At Naval Base 'If and When'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House announced today that "if and when" the President takes a vacation this summer he will go to the U. S. naval base on Coast-er's Harbor Island off Newport, R. I.

Ending the guessing about the President's vacation site, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said that the mile-long island, with golf, fresh and salt water fishing and boating available, is the spot picked by President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

House Committee Approves Bill to Relax Gas Controls

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Commerce Committee today approved a bill to relax federal controls over producer prices for natural gas.

Members emerging from the closed meeting reported the vote was 15-13 in favor of the bill.

Sponsors were determined to push the controversial measure through the House this year, even though the Senate is not expected to consider it until next year. This would avoid an election-year battle in the House where the bill apparently faces its strongest opposition.

Over protests of lawmakers from consuming areas a similar bill squeaked through the House by a margin of only 6 votes in 1955. That measure was vetoed by President Eisenhower. But sponsors believe they have assurances he won't veto this one.

The measure would abolish the present requirements for utility-type controls which are based on "cost plus a fair return." Producers would be allowed the going field price for natural gas.

Storms Precede Cool Air Mass

By United Press

Turbulent weather pushed across the Ohio Valley today in advance of a cool air mass bringing heat relief to the East.

A severe thunderstorm with winds up to 63 m.p.h. pounded Indianapolis, during the early morning, and Pottsville, Pa., was doused by 2.35 inches of rain in a six-hour period Monday night and early today.

The cool air overspread most of the Great Plains, the Great Lakes and northern Ohio Valley Monday. It was expected to drift as far east as the Appalachians today.

The Canadian air mass forced the mercury down by as much as 20 degrees, from the high 90s and low 100s to the 80s, Monday in Nebraska, Kansas and parts of Wisconsin and Michigan.

Violent storms produced by the front were blamed for the death of a boy at Baraboo, Wis., who was killed when a tree fell on him, and for widespread property damage in the Monroe, Wis., area.

Michigan mopped up today from one of the heaviest rain storms in its history. The deluge Monday stalled cars and buses in flooded Detroit streets, causing major traffic jams. Passengers in one bus stranded in a six-foot pool of water were rescued by boat.

Woman Returned to Detroit Authorities

Joyce Turner, who was picked up by county authorities June 25 and held for questioning in an assault charge filed against Audie Parks, was returned to Detroit, Mich., today by representatives of the Detroit House of Correction.

Sheriff William Barrett stated the woman was wanted as a parole violator. She had been sentenced to a 1 to 14 years in Michigan on a bad check charge.

Eight Passengers Hurt When Airliner Swerves from Jet

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Eight passengers suffered minor injuries Monday when a United Air Lines DC6 had to make a sharp bank to avoid colliding with a jet plane.

The incident took place over Oxnard, about 50 miles northwest of Los Angeles, at an elevation of 11,000 feet. The plane had left a few moments before from Los Angeles for San Francisco with 39 passengers and crew.

A United Air Lines physician was called to San Francisco Airport to examine the passengers.

He found the most severe injuries were a sprained ankle suffered by Tom Traber of Affton, Mo., and a cut on the forehead received by David Steinberg of Yonkers, N. Y. Six other passengers received minor bruises.

Illinois Marine Pilot Is Killed

HONOLULU (UP)—The Navy reported that a Paris, Ill., Marine pilot was killed when his flaming AD5 Skyraider crashed into the sea near Kaneohe Bay Marine Air Station Monday.

He was 1st Lt. William D. Humphrey, 24.

Searchers found only a battered crash helmet at the scene. A radar operator in the plane was reported missing. Identification was withheld pending notification of kin.
